I am new to Drupal and working on a new project. The idea is to keep a list of all the events that the user has attended/organized. I have a couple of fields: Event Name Event Creation Date User Type For a certain User Type (department) I am creating an Event for every day they go to work. I don't want this for any other User Type. Is there a way to write a SQL query that will only select/insert when this condition is true? A: This is a basic condition query: `SELECT * FROM {table} WHERE {CONDITION}` You just add the column name for any condition that you need. United States Court of Appeals
